Miami University (Ohio)

Lyman A. Glenny is professor of higher education and chairman, Program in Higher Education at the University of California at Berkeley. He was formerly director of the Center for Research and Development in Higher Education also at the University of California and, from 1965 until 1968, he served as executive director, Illinois Board of Higher Education. Professor Glenny is a widely recognized expert on the planning, coordination, and financing of colleges and universities at both the state and national levels. His multi-volume study entitled State Budgeting for Higher Education is almost universally cited by scholars working in the area of higher education finance. Dr. Glenny has received the Humanitarian Award for service to higher education, Northern Illinois University and the Distinguished Service Award of the State Higher Education Executive Officers Association. He has consulted for 22 state governments on higher education planning and administration. Dr. Glenny has also served on many committees and commissions of national associations including the American Council on Education, Education Commission of the States, Educational Testing Services, National Center for Higher Education Management Systems, and others. His prominence as a leader on state level planning should make this bibliography especially useful to those engaged in policy research.
